

Sunlight is absorbed as heat by the dark inner surface of the collection tube.

Heat vapor rises to the top of the tube.

Cooled liquid returns to the bottom of the tube to repeat the cycle.